March Of Dimes Launched Today

Annual Drive For Funds To Fight Polio Begins In County; Request All To Give

Today in public buildings and places of business there are receptacles for donations to the annual "March of Dimes" which is the campaign to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis.

Chairman William R. Hanna has appealed to each of us to give to this worthy effort to battle and control one of the world's worst diseases. To carry on research and treatment funds in this county and across the nation funds must be replenished. Already great steps have been made in our local hospitals to secure the best of equipment and personnel to combat the disease. This vital work cannot be continued without the support of every citizen.

To Supervise Collection

Hi-Y clubs of the various schools have been named to supervise collections of dimes among the students of grades one through twelve. Each student will be given a card which will hold five ten-cent pieces, and these will be distributed and collected by the club members.

Joseph Hartman is overseeing the city school collections and Chairman Hanna is handling the county schools.

The campaign will continue until January 30. Give today, so that some stricken person may walk again tomorrow!

GEORGIA HAS TWO GOVERNORS

formed Talmadge that he considers him a "pretender" to the executive powers.

The legislature adjourned at 2:20 a. m., after a 14-hour session, leaving in its wake an almost certain legal wrangle involving the governorship.

The lawmakers arranged to convene again tomorrow.

Arnall, meanwhile, stubbornly refused to yield his private office to Talmadge. While Arnall remained in his sanctuary, Talmadge forces took over the outer rooms of the Governor's suite in the statehouse.

After he had delivered a brief inaugural address to the solemnizing restoration of the "White Democratic primary," Talmadge entered the gubernatorial chambers behind a crowd of staunch supporters who had pushed through the locked doors of the offices. He was greeted by Arnall.

Asked by Talmadge if he had been informed of the legislature's action, Arnall quietly replied that he considered Talmadge a "pretender" to the office.

Arnall reiterated his belief that the people—and not the legislature—must elect a governor.

DAMAGE $100,000 IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A three-alarm fire swept a pipe manufacturing firm in Pittsburgh today causing $100,000 damage according to a company estimate.

The flames, fed by oil in the one-story building, threw a thick cloud of black smoke over Pittsburgh's famed point.

Company officials said plumbing pipe for 38 units of a veterans' housing project at Huntington, W. Va., was in the plant at the time of the fire.

PUBLIC HOUSING UNITS RENTS BEING BOOSTED TO FORCE OUT TENANTS

000 apartment units were rented to war workers at just enough to cover operating costs.

Now, he continued, the projects must be returned to the government-subsidized low-rent program for which they were originally planned. Therefore, tenants whose incomes exceed levels set by local housing authorities for low-rent projects have been notified they must find other homes.

Evictions to Increase

At the same time, their rents have been raised from the non-profit wartime level to prevailing OPA ceilings for similar accommodations. The spokesmen added that evictions have been few in number, but more can be expected in the near future.

The FHFA is also raising rents of approximately 20 per cent of the occupants of 138,000 apartment units which have been operated under the low-rent program throughout the war. These rents increases, too, were accompanied by notices to vacate.

The 20 per cent consists of tenants who had sufficiently low incomes to enter the projects but whose incomes since have risen above set limits. A regulation which obliged them to vacate was waived during the war, but it is now being brought back into operation.

DECISION ON LEWIS APPEAL NOT LIKELY BEFORE FEBRUARY

that "America's ability to administer its own laws" was at stake in the case.

Welly K. Hopkins, chief counsel for the UMW, promptly charged that Clark did not confine his arguments to the "facts." He said Clark's presentation "would have more place in a political or legislative arena rather than in the court."

Hopkins asserted that Judge Goldsborough's restraining order violated the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction law. He said that it was "repugnant" to the free-speech and anti-slavery amendments to the constitution and that the fines levied were excessive.

The supreme court showed great interest in the question of whether the miners are government employees under federal seizure of the mines.

TEACHERS AVOID STRIKE VOTE TO OBTAIN INCREASE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Harrisburg teachers today side-stepped a strike vote in an effort to obtain $300 salary boosts.

A resolution adopted during a special teachers' committee meeting last night pointed out "we hold the welfare of the school children above our own desires and needs and wish to continue on our usual high plane of professional ethics."

The teachers urged the Board of Education to join them in petitioning the Dauphin County Court for permission to reopen the school district budget and reappropriate funds for the proposed increases. The board has turned down the demands, claiming insufficient funds.

TEEN-AGE BOYS ADMIT SLAYING

tempt to get the car. They beat their victim and finally shot him twice in the back with a .38-caliber pistol, which, the Frohner boy stated, he had stolen from his own home.

Planned Crime Sunday

A car-stealing expedition was planned by the pair Sunday night, they told the officers. They went to school Monday morning, Frohner hiding the pistol in his locker. After leaving school in the afternoon, the two boys hitch-hiked a ride from Youngstown to a point west of the city, but gave up their robbery plot in this instance because there were two men in the car.

They got out and waited for another car to come along, finally stopping Spith.

Stanley Miller, driver of a Greyhound bus enroute from Youngstown to Columbus, saw the boys in their attack on Spith and heard his cries for help. He stopped the bus, whereupon the two youths jumped from the car and fled, outdistancing Miller and outraging passengers on the bus who went to Spith's aid.

They disappeared into the dense woods, about a half mile away from the scene near Cornersburg.

Chapman Born Here

Four hours after the crime Deputy Sheriff Robert Bertolette spotted two boys walking along the road, their shoes muddy and their clothes covered with briars. They said they had been out looking for likely spots to set muskrat traps. They went back to the Mahoning county jail where Chapman finally broke down and confessed his part in the crime. Frohner refused to admit his part in the killing until an older brother, Theodore Frohner, was called in and talked with him.

The murder weapon has not yet been found, the boys stating that they threw it into the bushes west of the city while fleeing the crime scene.

Chapman, who was born in New Castle, Pa., and lived there until a little over a year ago, stated that they had planned to take the car to New Castle and "hide it out here until the thing blew over and then drive the car around."

SENATOR WARNS PORTAL PAY SUITS MUST BE NULLIFIED

the portal-to-portal issue is playing into the hands of "enemies of the United States, at home and abroad."

"We cannot afford to wait with folded hands the determination of the courts on this crucial issue affecting the very life of our private enterprise system in this reconversion period."

"Enemies of the United States at home and abroad are feeding upon the confusion, the uncertainty and the fear engendered by the pending portal-to-portal pay problem."

To Play Hearings

As the judiciary met on the portal issue, the senate labor committee headed by Sen. Taft (R. Ohio), convened to organize and fix a date for public hearings on the mass of broad labor bills now before the senate.

Capehart told the judiciary subcommittee under Sen. Donnell (R. Mo.), that the portal claims were so staggering as to constitute a "national problem."

He offered a series of exhibits to support his charge of high-pressure maneuvers in the filing of suits for the back pay. They included:

1. Manual of instructions on how to proceed in travel time cases, issued by the CIO-United Steelworkers who yesterday filed strike notices under the Smith-Connally act affecting 1,000 steel and aluminum plants. Their contract expires Feb. 15.
2. Steelworkers union questionnaire asking about travel time, and such working conditions as lunch hour, showers, etc.
3. A form authorization for an attorney to proceed with portal-to-portal claims for individual workers. This suggested, Capehart noted, that employees could agree to pay attorneys 20 percent of the amount recovered—or as much as one-third the amount recovered in some cases.

Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, who performed outstanding service to the men leaving for the armed forces and has been active in assistance to the veterans since their return, was recognized by the post last evening, when he was presented with the American Legion's Distinguished Service Certificate, the highest award which can be made to a civilian.

The presentation was made by Ivor V. Davis, in the presence of four other holders of this honor L. B. Round, C. L. McMullen, D. O. Davies, and Bart Richards, all of whom spoke, after Rev. Jones had responded graciously to the presentation speech.

Chairman Merle H. Hildebrand of the city's Yanks program, gave a final report, showing that $352 was contributed in this effort to provide Christmas boxes for the men confined in hospitals throughout the state. The bulk of this was given by members of the post.

VIEW CONTINUANCE OF LUXURY TAXES AS AID TO INCOME TAX CUT

committee, said that the continued high luxury taxes will make the proposed individual tax reductions "easy."

It is estimated that the wartime levies will contribute approximately one and a half billion dollars to federal revenue during the 1948 fiscal year.

Urged By President

President Truman, whose action in declining the "end of hostilities" automatically ended the wartime rates on July 1, has urged congressional continuance of the taxes in order to provide a greater sum for reduction of the war-swollen national debt.

Action to continue the excises was taken at a closed-door meeting of Republican members of the tax-writing committee.

Knutson announced after the meeting, that the full committee would be called into session Friday to consider a bill continuing the levies. He predicted that the measure might be reported to the house for consideration the same day.

The Minnesota told reporters that the hasty action was being taken to remove present uncertainty from the luxury retail trades.

SENATOR WADE TO SPEARHEAD DRIVE TO FREE BRIDGES

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Sen. George N. Wade (R. Cumberland) today indicated he would spearhead another drive to free Pennsylvania's 10 toll bridges.

He said he would "press hard" for action to enable the Commonwealth to purchase the spans. He co-authored legislation to pave the way for acquisition during the 1945 session with Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R. Dauphin).

The State Supreme Court outlawed purchase of the bridges with money taken from the motor license fund because of a constitutional amendment approved by the electorate.

Robert D. Hanna, Patrolman John James reported trying the North Street door between 12:30 a. m. and 1:30 a. m., and found it was locked. He passed the door later but did not notice anything unusual in its appearance.

The safe was closely scrutinized by Police Captain McMullen for fingerprints some of which have been taken to Butler barracks of the State police for comparison with fingerprints of safe-breakers.

While attempts have been made recently to open other safes here efforts of the yeggs proved futile.

COLLEGE CLUB

HEARS SPEAKER

"Six Years under Gestapo Rule" was the subject on which Dr. Iwan Gruen, rabbi of Temple Israel, addressed College club members and guests at the club's January meeting in the coral room of The Casleton Tuesday evening.

Dr. Gruen, who came to the United States from Danzig in 1935 and is affiliated with the Committee for World Brotherhood, spoke to the point that social and economic problems cannot be solved by hatred, prejudice, and antagonism, and related as illustration some personal experiences in Danzig prior to seizure of that city by Hitler.

Without religion the state alone is not strong enough to protect human life and property, for it is religion which ensures human conscientiousness and moral responsibility, he told the audience.

As he explained how the Nazis infiltrated the Free City of Danzig and gained control in the years from 1923 to 1939 in spite of the city's democratic constitution, he emphasized that Hitler's anti-Semitism was nothing but a pretext for other aims, among them to take away the liberty of his own people. For Fascism exploits anti-Semitism as one of its most powerful weapons and Nazi propaganda took many guises, he pointed out.

Dr. Gruen was introduced by Mrs. Carl Cramer, program chairman of the evening. Mrs. William J. Caldwell presided.

To open the program an instrumental trio of three high school students played the third movement from Beethoven's Opus 1, No. 3. In the trio were violinist Eleanor Lutton, cellist Tom Wyand and pianist Lois Baum.

Committee for the evening was Mrs. Carl Cramer, Mrs. M. I. Ailey, Miss Bernice Bartlett, Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, Mrs. George Muffley, Miss Sarah Patterson, Mrs. Earl Ruby and Mrs. Paris Shoaff.

✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE

✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles, else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-gastric stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

More Small Businesses

It is highly encouraging to note that the months since V-J Day have seen an impressive revival of small business in the United States. During the war the little fellows took it on the chin.

The bulk of government contracts went to big firms which had facilities for turning out the most in the shortest time. As a result, firms with fewer than 100 workers, which had been employing 40 per cent of the labor force at 38 per cent of the total wage before the war, were accounting for only 33 per cent of all employees and 25 per cent of the total wage by 1943.

At that time the country began to hear many pessimistic predictions that small business was being killed off and that little firms would find it impossible to regain their position after the war was over. These prophecies turned out to be a great deal gloomier than the facts warranted.

Actually small business, which is the backbone of any healthy system of free enterprise, is thriving more than ever today. The National Industrial Conference Board, which has just made an analysis of business concentration and integration, reports the growth of small businesses by leaps and bounds. Eventually, it predicts, "the number of firms may exceed the prewar high by as many as from 300,000 to 500,000 concerns."

On the basis of this report, it can hardly be said that American initiative and enterprise are dead or dying. The nation is witnessing, in fact, a tremendous and healthy growth of small firms started by men eager to have a share in supplying the huge postwar market and reaping its profits. Whether that growth will continue will depend on the general economic climate and the wisdom of the fiscal policies which the government follows.

Season For Colds

Government statisticians at Washington deserve applause for their presentation of figures concerning the perils of the common cold. They have said that, beginning with Christmastime, the incidence of common colds rises rapidly to its peak in February, when 25,000,000 Americans have colds.

That is something for each individual to contemplate. In addition to all the other possibilities, each individual is face to face with the threat—in government statistics, no less—that the odds are 1 to 5 that he will have a cold in February. Common cold, that is.

Government statisticians go even further. They contend that the common cold afflicts 94 per cent of the population each year. But now that it is well known when the season for colds begins, perhaps more persons will give attention to the business of avoiding them.

This apparently is the season for steering clear of the sneezing and sniffling public. It is also the season for getting sufficient rest and eating and drinking in moderation. Even after taking all these precautions, one might get a cold anyway, but at least one's conscience will be clear.

Some Hope, Anyway

It takes credit men to tell people what is wrong with them, their country and the world. A good example was the recent statement of Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men.

In summing up the hidden liabilities on the nation's balance sheets, he mentioned persisting inflation in real estate and stock prices, the easy-money policy that has distorted the American people's sense of money values and retarded thrift, and "the expediency policies of the government."

Among other current liabilities, he listed global chaos, low productivity, persons who desire security without being willing to admit the necessity of earning it and lower standards of ethics, particularly in certain public service institutions. That sounds like a harsh indictment. Yet Mr. Heimann was not pessimistic. His final conclusion was that although these liabilities are tremendous, "they are sufficiently outweighed by the assets to make the country a good credit risk in 1947."

At least, there is some hope.

Urban Trend Continues

That population gains will continue to be made by cities at the expense of rural areas is evident when one ponders the implications of machines such as the corn picker. Reports from the corn belt disclose that mechanical corn pickers are doing more and more custom work, gleaming the ears from the stalks without aid of human hands. Machines now are picking 75 per cent of Nebraska's corn and 85 per cent of Iowa's crop.

The farmer who doesn't own a picker can, in many cases, engage a commercial operator to reap this crop at a cost of seven to ten cents a bushel. A hand husker today is paid fifteen cents a bushel. The mechanical picker will do the work of ten men.

Mechanical corn pickers and similar innovations in farm machinery inevitably will extend the operations one farm owner can conduct. A farmer will be able to handle three to five times the pre-mechanization acreage. The result may be static or decreasing rural population. Other possible consequences of farm mechanization may be overproduction of crops and a labor surplus in the cities, although these belong to the category of long-range effects.

There are indications that Elliott Roosevelt has begun to pipe down, perhaps on the theory that he has made a sufficient spectacle of himself.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

All Evils Cannot Be Cured By Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—We Americans tend to believe that all evils can be cured by law. Under that delusion we have made some terrible mistakes.

One of the worst was prohibition. That was a whopper. It dealt the whole movement for temperance and moderation a blow from which it has never recovered. From the traffic prohibition era we inherited a lawless gangsterism that is still a curse.

We may be about to make another mistake like prohibition. We may try to cure our "labor troubles" by law. And the result may be just as dismal, just as disastrous, as prohibition.

The new Congress will pass a revised Case bill within a few weeks. It can probably be passed over the President's veto, should Mr. Truman decide to send it back to Capitol Hill. A bill banning the closed shop has been introduced, and another outlawing nationwide collective bargaining.

Many features in the revised Case bill are long overdue. It outlaws the jurisdictional strike, which more than anything else has set the general public against organized labor. It outlaws secondary boycotts. It penalizes those who call wildcat strikes. It provides for financial accounting by unions to the secretary of labor and to the union membership.

The heart of the measure, however, is the five-member federal mediation board which would be superimposed on the present U. S. conciliation service. When this board intervened in a dispute, both employer and employee would have to keep on under the old terms of work for a maximum of 60 days.

The board would, of course, make every effort to settle the dispute during the 60 days. But in that period there could be neither a strike nor a lockout.

In the country hearings on the Case bill last year, union leaders argued that in effect the law would be a compulsory-arbitration, no-strike law. The weapon of the strike can be used to get gains only when the rank and file of a union feel deeply enough to walk out of their jobs. Such a pitch of feeling does not endure for long.

Labor Belief
You can argue that the 60-day cooling off period is therefore all to the good, since strikes are so destructive in their effect. But without organized labor there is an entrenched belief that to surrender the right to strike is to surrender a weapon that will leave the union more or less powerless in bargaining with management.

There is another consideration that touches not union members alone but all of us. It gets down to this: Is such a 60-day cooling off period enforceable? Would the law be workable on any practical basis of operation? Or would it breed defiance and a new kind of law?

In the extended labor hearings which the Republicans will hold after passage of the Case bill, this question of workability should be seriously considered. A law that is unenforceable is worse than no law at all. A law that requires a vast enforcement bureaucracy may produce more evils than those it was meant to cure, as we should have learned from prohibition.

In the countries that have been most successful in organizing collective bargaining, there has been no effort to compel arbitration. Sweden, for example, has a system of arbitration courts to pass on disputes occurring after a contract has been signed. But except for minor restraints in the mediation process, the right to strike is unbridled, and strikes occur. The same is true in Great Britain.

Trouble in U. S.
One trouble in this country is that for 14 years organized labor has leaned on the crutch of law and government. That has made for every kind of excess—excesses which unions are only now slowly and reluctantly moving to correct.

Depending on government-enforced closed-shop agreements, the unions have too often failed to do the kind of democratic organizing job that makes for solidity and stability. The crutch has been altogether too convenient and too readily available.

But to try by law abruptly to switch the balance of power is a very risky experiment. It risks disorder and lawlessness. It risks the final penalty of a government straight-jacket forced onto all collective bargaining and therefore onto most of the economy.

The unions are beginning to correct some of the worst abuses. The older and more die-hard leaders are passing out of the picture. It would be better to make haste slowly than to risk all that has been gained.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

We called on a friend of ours on New Year's Day. He is a well-known cartoonist and has a fourteen-year-old son.

During the afternoon the son, Tommy, and I became quite chummy. He took me over into a corner and said:

"Dad always says you are awfully smart on you couldn't be a communist. Let's find out how smart you are."

"How are you going to do that?" I asked.

"Well, I'll give you three tests that they gave us in school and that we were supposed to answer correctly. I got all the answers right. Dad couldn't do any of them."

"Okay, boy, go ahead," I said.

"So here are his three tests:

No. 1. Two fathers and two sons went out duck hunting. They shot three ducks and each went home with a duck. How come?

No. 2. A fellow had fifty-five cents in two pieces and one wasn't a nickel. What were the two pieces?

No. 3. A boy had a Roman coin marked 472 B. C. He proudly showed it to an archeologist, who told him that it was a counterfeit and proved it. How did he prove it?

After each of the questions I did a lot of thinking and finally got the correct answers to No. 1 and 3. I never did make the grade on the second one.

Tommy reluctantly agreed that I was smarter than his father, although he still insisted that it takes more brains to do a comic strip than a column, but he also told me that almost half of the students in his class, ranging from thirteen to fifteen years in age, had done better than I.

However, since a number of authorities have pegged the average brain at 12 years of age, I think I am still doing pretty well.

But to try by law abruptly to switch the balance of power is a very risky experiment. It risks disorder and lawlessness. It risks the final penalty of a government straight-jacket forced onto all collective bargaining and therefore onto most of the economy.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAINING A CHILD TO MIND

Many mothers write me of the little child under four or five who does not come promptly when called, nor even answer verbally when. Some of the babies so written of are as young as fifteen months of age. I'm sure these mothers expect too much of the little tyke. One mother writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Our little boy is eighteen months old. He is a very obedient child and has respected the meaning of 'no' for a long time."

"My husband and I have worked hard together making him the good child he is, being very careful not to spoil him, but giving him plenty of love and affection at the same time."

Husband Has Helped

"My husband is very good with our boy and has helped me a lot. I appreciate any and each suggestion he has to offer. Something happened the other day. I called our little boy who was outside playing. He continued playing as though he hadn't heard me, though I know he had. Then I said, 'If you don't come here this minute I will spank you.' I didn't raise my voice at all, but it worked, so several times after that I did the same thing. Each time when I said I would spank him he would obey me immediately."

"My husband heard this one day and thinks it is a bad practice. He said I was threatening the baby. I guess I was but I didn't intend to. It's just that it was so effective. I'm not saying it's any more, but sometimes have to call the baby three or four times or else go and spank him. What do you suggest I do? A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

Here is about the way I replied. You and your husband are both a bit wrong in assuming that you should command a child so young to come to you. Next time you want him to come in from play, go quietly to him and say, 'We are going in now. If necessary, pick him up and bring him in. But if you are very calm and have made it a rule to have some good times with him on the way or after arrival indoors, you probably will win his cooperation.'

You see, he is pretty young to profit from a command which, of course, implies punishment without repetition. In case he does not obey promptly, this is a type of situation in which you are building for habitual cooperation. To command and therefore punish him, stands in the way of making his compliance satisfying to him.

It's a very different situation from one in which he is doing something forbidden such as kicking you in the shins, pulling something from the table, or tampering with the gas jet. In these cases you should not even warn or command, you should spank him at once, since from earlier experience he knew better. In general, make him immediately pay only for the few things he must never do and make pleasant the many more things you wish him to do. If you will read my two bulletins enclosed ("Stubbornness" and "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No.") you will see the principles involved. Anyone else may have them each in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

However, by the time your child is four or five he should be old enough to come when called or suffer immediately unpleasant consequences, though hardly at a much younger age.

The World and the Mud Puddles

LET SPAIN ALONE
One of the ironies of world politics is the persistence with which Poland keeps demanding United Nations action to oust Franco as Dictator of Spain or unanimously break off relations with him. It may be doubted if any country in Europe is under a more tyrannical dictatorship than Poland. The Soviet government in all probability deals far more harshly with the Poles than Franco deals with the Spaniards. The fact that more than two hundred thousand Polish troops who fought with the Allies refuse to go back to Poland, choosing to live in some strange land in preference to their own, gives an inkling into the character of the Polish regime under Russia.

Of course the Polish delegate on the security council is not speaking for the real Poland, but for the Russian "provisional" government. If a representative Pole could speak the mind of the Polish people, he would be far more interested in a United Nations inquiry into the Soviet dictatorship in Poland than into the Franco dictatorship in Spain. The action of the Polish delegate puts Poland in a ridiculous position before the informed members of the organization—particularly in view of the fact that many years before the war Poland itself operated under a dictatorship.

There is no more sympathy among fair-minded Americans for the Franco regime than there is for the "provisional" Polish regime; the only appreciable difference is in the matter of names. Fascism in Spain and Communism in Poland being about the same. Thoughtful Americans, however, fail to see the necessity for promoting another bloody civil war in Spain—a war that may inflame all Europe—merely because the Soviets want to threaten the British interest of Gibraltar by the installation of a Communist government favorable to Russia's ambitions in the Mediterranean. From a practical standpoint, outside intervention might prove more likely to help Franco than to hurt him.

His mission to London therefore almost exactly parallels that of

Few Changes Forecast In U. S. Agriculture Program
End Of Hostilities May Hasten Coal Agreement
Uncle Sam Is Now Collecting Compositions

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Capital experts predict that the new Congress will make few changes in the administration's agriculture program.

They point out that farm legislation is largely bipartisan in nature, written by the "farm bloc" which is composed of senators and representatives from both sides of the aisle. They also cite the fact that many existing farm acts had Republican support when they were enacted.

Agriculture committee leaderships, however, will switch from southern Democratic control to the hands of GOP midwesterners.

Senators Arthur Capper of Kansas and Alben Barkley of Kentucky will lead the Senate agriculture committee, and in the House Reps. Clifford R. Hope of Kansas and August H. Andresen of Minnesota are the new farm leaders.

Hope is credited by his colleagues with being a genuine expert on farm affairs. He has worked closely with Rep. J. W. Flanagan, Jr., (D) of Virginia, who headed the house agriculture committee in the 79th Congress.

President Truman's termination of hostilities may stimulate the making of a new wage agreement between John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators.

The government must get out of the coal business not later than next June 30. Federal authority to operate the mines seized last May will end at that time.

Both sides now know that the days of government operation are limited. Lewis probably will want to get a private contract modifying the terms already has made, before the government steps out.

The operators are expected to be equally anxious to reach an agreement with the United Mine Workers that will assure a period of industrial peace in the coal fields.

The mine owners have received their regular profits under federal operation, but the government soon will be unable to end strikes through seizure action.

Labor observers believe that Lewis will take the initiative to request a bargaining sessions with the operators.

Numerous critics scoffed at the anti-Communist resolution adopted by the recent CIO convention as being meaningless.

They are now discovering that it is being converted into a vehicle for drastic action among CIO affiliates to curb left wing elements. The resolution merely said that the CIO resents and rejects Communist influences in organization. Local leaders are now putting teeth into it.

Wisconsin CIO leaders recently ousted left-wingers from control of the State Industrial Union Council. Similar action was taken in New Jersey and Massachusetts. The Professional and Office Workers union also has started putting its house in order.

Latest move was Joseph Curran's resignation as co-chairman of the Committee for Maritime Unity, which has been assailed as a left wing group.

Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, now is in for a stiff fight against Communists in his own union. The same battle is shaping up in the Greater New York CIO Council, another organization headed by Curran.

TALK WITH MA

"He's so attentive, Ma!" she said. "My packages he asks to carry." Her Ma replied, with shaking head: "All men do that before they marry."

"He's thoughtful and he's very kind. My needs he instantly discovers." Her Ma replied: "I'm sure you'll find all men are that way when they're lovers."

"He vows devoted he will be. And never smile upon another." "Precisely what Pa said to me. Two years before I was your mother."

"Will he be always neat and trim? Will his head with pride be carried?" Said Ma: "There's Pa! Just look at him! That's how he'll be when you are married."

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
A. N. Foreign Editor

Seventy-four-year-old Leon Blum was back in a London with which he long has been familiar, entrusted with a tough diplomatic bargaining job of the sort he had tried to relinquish in behalf of retirement.

The venerable French premier flew across the Channel to talk with British Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee about the chances of obtaining increased coal allotments for France from the Saar valley.

His trip was made at a crucial time.

Deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four already are in session to draft a program for a German peace treaty prior to the Moscow meeting in March.

And certain British circles still are somewhat restive if not resentful over France's unilateral action regarding customs control in the Saar.

The French claimed this step was taken only as a safeguard against black-marketing leaks. But other quarters interpreted it as an effort by France to take over the Saar without international approval.

Blum first will have to set the record straight. Then he must put forward compelling arguments for preferential French treatment in the Saar. After that he probably will ask for concrete British assistance in the rehabilitation of French industry.

His mission to London therefore almost exactly parallels that of Italian Premier Alcide De Gasperi to the United States.

The latter, in point of fact, may have prompted the former.

Both France and Italy, along with all other nations of continental Europe, are now beginning to feel very seriously the pinch of fuel shortages. To winter thus far has been one of the most rigorous in recent years, if not in history.

The few trees remaining in Vienna's parks are coming down for firewood. Those in Berlin disappeared many months ago, and while Paris has not yet been reduced to stripping the Bois De Boulogne, such an apparent desecration is not out of the question.

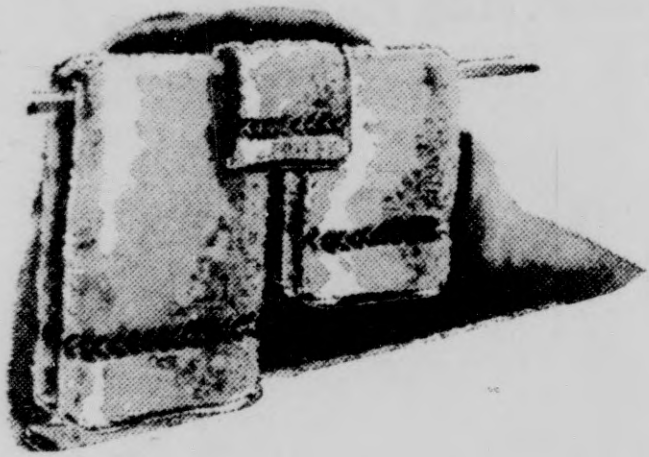

Blum's requested interview with Attlee may be of great significance so far as French co-operation in the administration of Europe is concerned.

It is no secret that the French have gone along pretty much on their own in handling zonal affairs in occupied Germany. Their position up to now is that the Ruhr and Rhineland questions had to be adjusted to France's advantage before any other international steps were taken.

This, of course, has resulted in a slowing down of German industrial recovery. France's present admission that she badly needs more coal from the Saar may be the first indication of a changed attitude conforming to the Anglo-American view that Germany must be restored unless all Europe is condemned to hunger and privation.

State Legislature Will Be Speeded

Expect General Assembly Action To Be Accelerated After Inauguration Day

OTHER NEWS OF STATE CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Action in the general assembly moved at a moderate rate during the first week of the 1947 session. Instead of the usual one-day opening session for organization, both branches of the legislature met for three days during the initial week to accelerate work on a measure designed to reorganize the personnel system. It was the only measure tossed into the legislative hopper. Activity was expected to be accelerated shortly after Governor-elect

James H. Duff is inaugurated. Senate President Pro Tempore William B. Heyburn, of Concordville, and the house committee on committees were expected to name committees January 20, thus preparing the way for consideration of bills.

Nearly every assemblyman has his own "pet bill" designed to do something for "the folks back home" and many sponsor legislation for state-wide or local organizations. The state legislative reference bureau has drafted more than 300 measures. During regular sessions the number of proposals usually is around 2000. In past years, many legislators have submitted identical measures and it is up to committees to decide which one will be reported for floor consideration.

Some assemblymen and Republican leaders have expressed the belief that Governor-elect James H. Duff's silence concerning his cabinet was saving his appointees a lot of headaches. One legislator explained that immediately after their appointments were announced cabinet officers were always deluged with telephone calls, telegrams and letters from well-wishers and persons seeking political favors. Duff has indicated he would name his complete cabinet simultaneously. There were indications that the new official family may not be named by Duff until shortly before he is inaugurated January 21.

Renunciation of some Democratic leaders has been favorable to President Truman's appointment of Gen. George C. Marshall, formerly of Uniontown, as Secretary of State. Some predicted that Marshall would be an "ideal" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1948 should President Truman decline to seek another term. A few officials believe that Pennsylvania's Democratic delegation may spearhead a drive for Marshall should the president announce he was not a candidate. Some others believe that Marshall would make a fine running mate for Truman.

Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr., has recommended Wyoming's Borough officials for issuing a report to residents covering all municipal activities. "Such reports are both informative and inspirational," Livingston said in the department's monthly bulletin. "They should be more of them. If citizens knew the background of the community in which they live, they would have a better understanding of the problems with which their local officials are faced, and the spirit of cooperation, so necessary for successful administration, would be encouraged." Wyoming is located in Berks County.

A supplement to the final message of former Governor Edward Martin to the general assembly has been issued at the State Capitol and contains reports of the various departments, boards and commissions. The report, submitted by State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, showed that during the four years Martin was in office troopers made 152,860 arrests, 91 per cent of which resulted in convictions and fines approximately $1,854,000. Wilhelm said there were 1485 troopers on duty. The force is limited to 1600 by law. "The force is equipped and ready to meet any emergency," he added. "This has been demonstrated during flood and other disasters requiring action beyond the scope of routine police duties."

ANNUAL REUNION OF 28TH DIVISION SET FOR JULY 10

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Society of the 28th Division, AEF, was scheduled today to open a three-day annual reunion at Bellefonte July 10.

James T. Spence of Harrisburg, past president, said the society's annual memorial services would be held at the shrine near Boalsburg July 13.

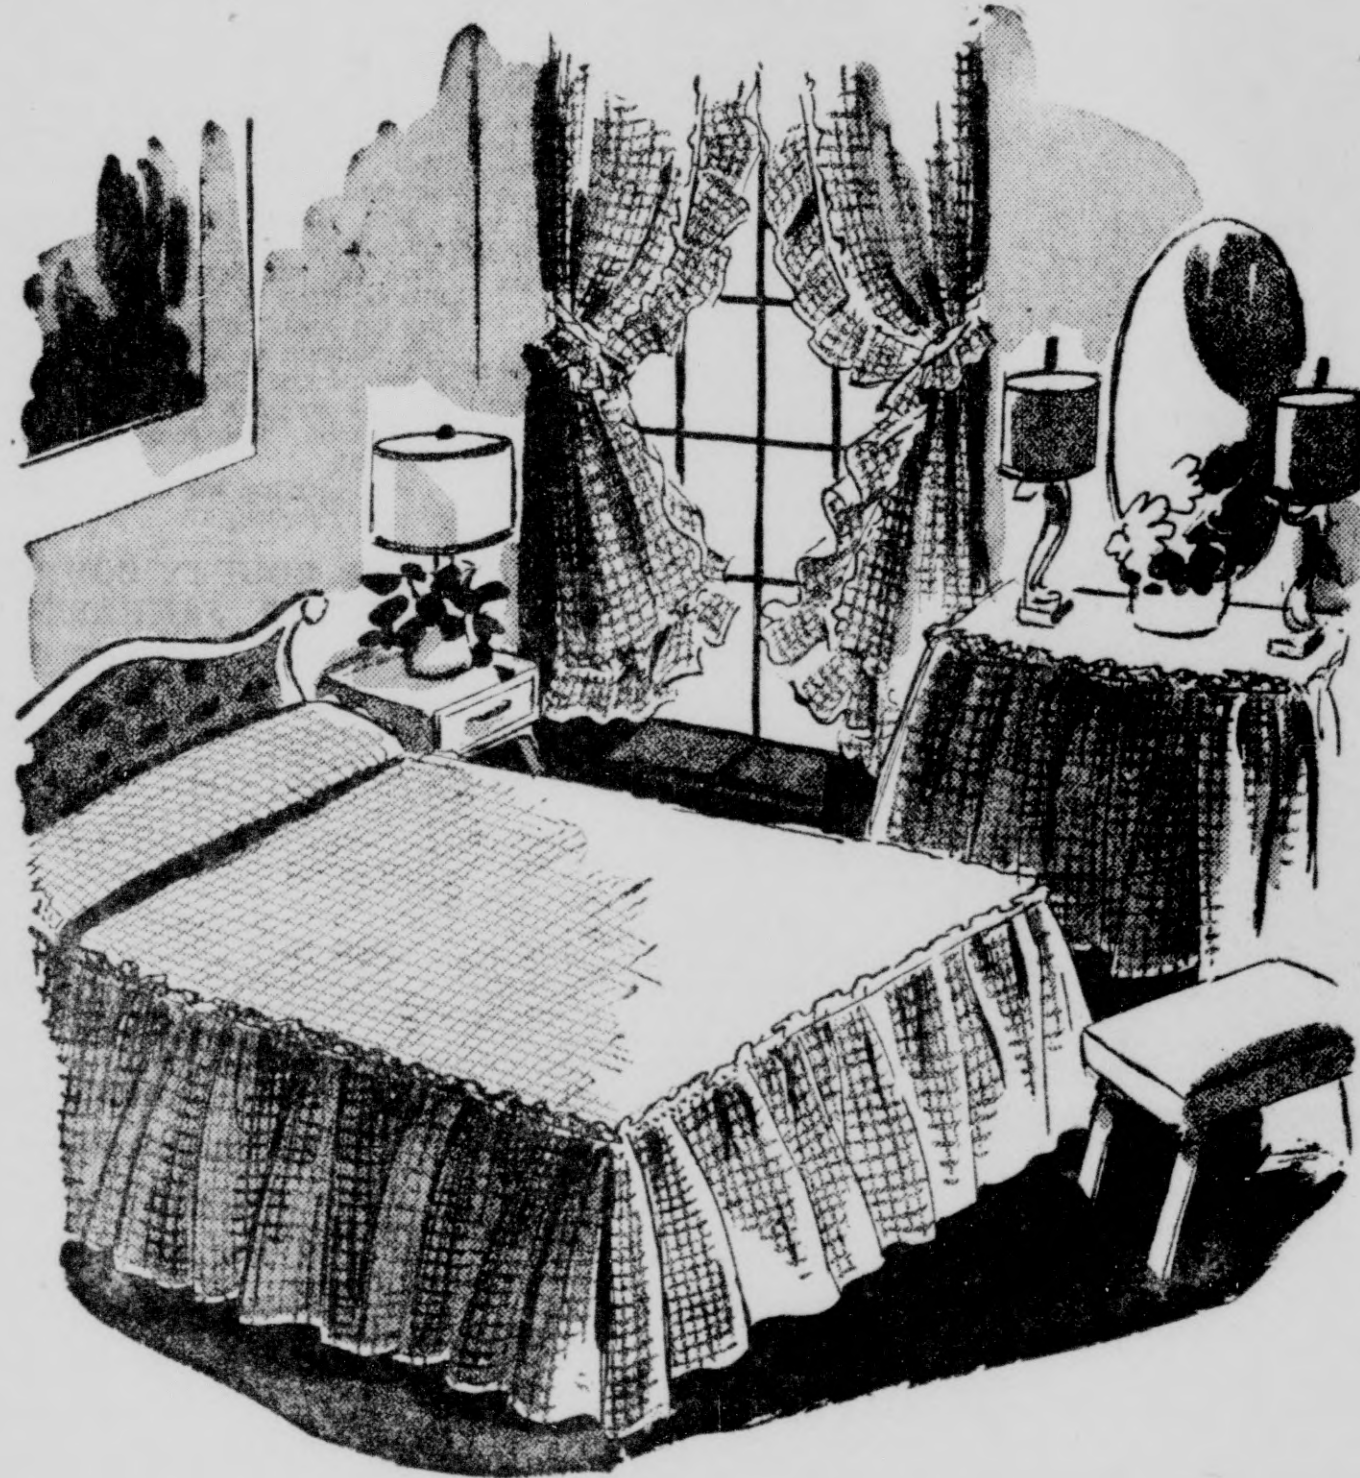

The shrine, a 75-acre plot owned by the state in Centre county near the geographical center of the commonwealth, was dedicated in honor of the 2874 men of the "Iron" division who died in battle in France 29 years ago.

The society, organized 17 years ago at Mt. Gretna, is headed by Dr. Frank L. Doering of Pittsburgh.

Farm Women Oppose Compulsory Military Training Proposals

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women today opposed compulsory military training.

Resolutions adopted during its 26th annual convention at Harrisburg in conjunction with the state farm show endorsed proposals for teachers' salary boosts "on a par with other lines of specialized work" and called for state scholarships to attract more students into the teaching field. They sought an expansion of the school lunch program.

The farm women demanded a highway safety program implemented by "a strict and impartial enforcement of all traffic laws".

Awards for food preservation during 1946 were made to the Summer Hill society of Cambria county which put up 10,950 quarts of farm produce and Mrs. Alice Shelly, Lebanon R. D., who canned 1800 quarts.

Flying Farmers To Be Organized

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Organization of the Pennsylvania Flying Farmers' Association was scheduled today at Harrisburg.

Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agriculture economist of Pennsylvania State college, emphasized to the Flying Farmers that "speed is the chief advantage of air transport".

He pointed out that while rail freight from the west coast requires 10 days or more to reach the Atlantic seaboard, shipments of perishables can reach eastern markets by air 24 hours after harvest.

Hood predicted that Pennsylvania greenhouse men, florists, market gardeners and fruit growers would meet the competition from the south and west as air transport developed.

He urged growers to improve grading, packing and merchandising methods to meet the competition.

The Flying Farmers were scheduled to tour the Harrisburg state airport at New Cumberland under the guidance of William L. Anderson, Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission executive director.

Average American Has Ready Money, 'Nest Egg'

By INEZ ROBB
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—America still has ready money in its pockets and a nest-egg "stashed" away in the bank.

This is the general opinion of a large cross section of America's merchants, who stand on the other side of the counter and take in the folding money.

These merchants, meeting here in their 36th annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, generally believe there will be a bit of a price recession toward the end of 1947. Some believe it isn't due until 1948. But none can foresee a depression, despite the prophecies of disaster, with the country in its present condition.

Wages, Employment High
Merchants from all over the nation still report employment and wages as high. Many, particularly merchants in smaller communities, believe people are still living on their wages and that war-time savings remain in the bank. This group believes war bonds are still held against the purchase of durable goods and for emergency use.

This opinion is in direct contrast to many recent pronouncements from semi-official and public sources that America had shot its war-time wad on gee-gaws while awaiting the manufacture of durable goods in quantity.

George W. Priests of the Priests Department Store at Mount Clemens, Mich. (population 17,000) at convention headquarters, the Pennsylvania Hotel, today said:

"People are holding on to their war bonus in my district." Col. A. D. Patterson of the Patterson's department store at Findlay, Ohio, (population 23,000) declared.

"Employment and wages are still high and the prospects for the future are good. There is no excuse for a depression."

Purchase E-Bonds

R. G. Kennington of the R. E. Kennington Co., department store in Jackson, Miss. (population 75,000), pointed out that more E-bonds were purchased during 1946 than were redeemed, as proof that people are not squandering their money.

"Conditions are very good in Jackson," he added. "We were not a war boom town, either. There may be a little bit of easing in the employment situation, but the future certainly look good although it is always difficult to make economic predictions."

There was one dissenting voice in the matter of America's back-log of war-time savings. Robert A. Seidel, vice-president of W. T. Grant, with 500 chain stores all over the country, believes merchants can no longer depend on such a backlog. He said:

"I don't think we can count on it any longer. I think the loose change is all gone. The days of free and reckless spending are over."

Despite the bright outlook predicted by the majority, merchants are unanimous in agreeing that their profits will be less in 1947 than in 1946. They expect to have to pay higher wages in 1947, to spend more for "service" (delivery service, gift-wrapping, etc.), to find competition keener as more and more goods flood the market, and to return to the old pre-war system of mark-downs or bargain sales.

avidly as bobby soxers—but with a difference.

The bobby soxers want Sinatra's and Haynes' autographs, while the library goes for the long-haired stuff, collecting autographed copies of original scores by such musicians as Wagner, Mozart, Schubert and Beethoven.

Latest find are the autographed originals of Brahms' Third Symphony and his quintet for piano and strings, feared lost in Vienna during the war. They were obtained, however, by the American Collector, Jerome Stenborough, and are now in possession of the library.

Experts say Brahms made corrections by pasting new parts of the score over the original, and the library is planning to study the music written under the pasted-over changes.

Training Plan For Guard Asked By State Leader

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A universal military training plan permitting trainees to select enlistment in the national guard was called for today by Maj. Gen. E. J. Stackpole, of Harrisburg, 28th Division commander.

"The war department states that the mobilization plan involving the regular army, national guard and reserve depends upon enactment of a universal training law," Stackpole explained.

"The future security of the nation is problematical without universal military training," he added. "Unless we have it, the national guard of the United States cannot hope to secure the manpower needed to fill its ranks to a strength of 682,000 men and officers."

"Here in Pennsylvania, we are committed to the organization of divisional, corps and army units aggregating 40,000 men at full authorized peacetime strength," Stackpole said.

"If we are to meet this obligation, if our troop commanders are to concentrate on training for their M-Day mission rather than searching for volunteers, we must have a plan of universal military training that will allow the trainee to select enlistment in the national guard as one means of fulfilling his obligation as a citizen to share in the nation's preparedness," he added.

Girl Is Charged With Starting Fire

CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)—A 16-year-old girl was lodged in the Chester Juvenile home today to await court action for allegedly starting a $1,500 fire.

Police said the teen-ager, Ruby Ayers, of Aston Mills, confessed starting the blaze which damaged two apartment houses, in revenge against a man who she said "had treated mother badly."

They said she told them she had originally planned to kill the man, identified by Chester Fire Chief Elmer C. Weiland as Randolph Jamison.

Police reported the girl made a statement that she had gone to Jamison's apartment with the intention of stabbing him to death, but on finding him out, ripped curtains from the window and ignited them.

After watching four fire companies fight the blaze, she surrendered to police at the scene. The police added the girl's mother, Mrs. Ruby McQuillan, 34, had left Chester last week and was believed to have gone to Lynchburg, Va.

GIRL IS WOUNDED WHEN DOG TRIPS TRIGGER OF RIFLE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A suburban Philadelphia debutante was recovering today from a gunshot wound received when her pet Welsh terrier tripped the trigger of her .22-caliber rifle with which she was target shooting.

The victim, Miss Edith Hall Frazier, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Harrison Frazier, of Whitmarsh township, was shot in the arm on her parents' estate, Journey's End.

She told physicians she had placed the rifle on the ground momentarily and that her dog somehow tripped the trigger. Physicians at Chestnut Hill hospital said her condition was not serious.

HANDS AND BUGS

The human hand is the most wonderful tool in the world. Sometimes we do not realize how valuable a hand is till something happens to it.

There is danger of the hands getting germs or bugs or worm eggs on them. They are then said to be infected with germs or infested with bugs.

These things are carried by the hands to the mouth or nose or other parts of the body.

Colds and boils and tonsillitis and tuberculosis are possibly spread by the hands.

Cleanliness is our best protection. Soap and water help a lot. Those who handle food should keep the hands clean.

It is probably a good idea to keep your hands out of other people's pockets too.

Ceramic tile generally thought of in connection with the modern home, has been used in home building over 6,500 years.

SHAKING HANDS

When next you extend your hand, remember that your hand-shake is as much of an index to your personality as is your smile or your voice.

A squeeze that pains the hand you are shaking denotes brusqueness or impudence while a hand-shake so limp as hardly to be felt denotes timidity and lack of self-possession. The thoughtful person will extend such salutation with a pressure that yields no discomfort, and yet indicates equality. To prolong the hand-hold unduly, especially during an introduction, savors of over-familiarity, and may cause resentment.

Avoid the pump-handle handshake affected years back. Those using this technique several times lifted the other's hand to about the height of the shoulder and then lowered it. The proper technique is to stand at an easy distance, not so far away that reaching forward will appear awkward, not yet so close that your arm scrapes the person you are saluting. Never at the same time make contact with your free hand.

If you are a woman, neither remove nor excuse your glove during the process. A man, on the contrary, should endeavor to remove his right glove when being introduced outdoors. And when he enters anyone's home, he should remove his gloves with his hat.

When introduced to a woman, he should wait for her to extend her hand rather than take the initiative by reaching for hers. If he does take this initiative, she should cordially extend her hand.

Question: I am to be married soon. There are several acquaintances to whom I should like to send invitations but I do not want them to feel obligated to send me a gift. However, they might feel hurt if I do not let them know about the marriage. What should I do about this?

Answer: You might send them invitations to the church or merely announcements, neither of which requires acknowledgment nor demands a gift.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

State Has 1,500,000 Children In School

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—The declining birth rate and the substantial number of young people who have remained in private industry since the war are two factors which will maintain Pennsylvania's public school enrollment at about 1,500,000 students during 1947, Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, observed today.

Pennsylvania's record enrollment was in 1933-34 when more than 2,000,000 students were in the classrooms of elementary and high schools throughout the 2,546 school districts of the Commonwealth. Since that time there has been a diminishing birthrate only partially offset by a slight post-war increase. According to the latest available census Pennsylvania stands squarely middle of the 48 states in the number of children of school age per 1000 adults between 20 and 64 years of age.

This ratio of children is 385 per 1000 adults for Pennsylvania as compared to the national high of 590 for South Carolina and the low of 280 for California, in statistics compiled by the National Education Association.

The latest available statistics compiled by the N. E. A. show that Pennsylvania ranks ninth among the 48 states in the amount of average salary paid to teachers, supervisors, and principals. The eight states which pay a greater average salary are, with one exception located in the northeastern United States.

Pennsylvania's public school system is now rated first in the United States as to the soundness and equality of its financial system and second among the 48 states in terms of students completing their high school education, Doctor Haas pointed out.

The N. E. A. rated the 48 states in terms of soundness, equity and progressiveness of the public school systems. In this, Pennsylvania led all the states by a considerable margin. Seventy-seven subjects comprise the study involving all phases of public education associated with a school finance, such as the financial soundness and accomplishments in administration, attendance, instruction, and the spread of educational facilities. Examples: A minimum school term of 180 days, free textbooks for all grades, salaries for teachers, school transportation, and relationship between the local and state responsibilities.

Pennsylvania's students are enrolled as follows: Kindergarten, 40,700; Elementary, 917,300; High School, 563,000.

Billion Dollar State Budget Is Being Forecast

By JAMES H. SMITH
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—A record smashing billion dollar state budget today appeared possible during the 1947-49 biennium.

State officials have not completed the financial blueprint for the new biennium beginning June 1 but it was anticipated that to meet public demands for increased commonwealth services the budget may have to be boosted to near the 1000-million dollar mark.

The budget for the present biennium was expected to hit $785,000,000 including a $23,000,000 appropriation by the general assembly to make up a relief deficiency. The legislature was expected to accelerate passage of the deficiency appropriation measure, expected to be introduced next week, because relief funds were running low.

Governor-elect James H. Duff has predicted a $96,000,000 deficiency during the next biennium if revenues and operating costs maintain present levels.

Introduction of new state taxes was considered necessary by some assemblymen to replenish state coffers because of decreasing revenues resulting from post-war economic readjustments.

Duff will take office January 21 and was expected to announce next month the budget for the initial half of his four-year term.

MAKE ARREST IN POSTOFFICE ROBBERY AT VINTONDALE

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)—State police and postal inspectors today arrested a 13-year-old Vintondale youth as a suspect in connection with the robbery of the Vintondale postoffice.

The youth at first denied the robbery but later led officers to his home where he had hidden $433 in loot.

Postal inspectors said the youth admitted breaking into the building by "jimmying" a window. He said the safe was open.

Expect Thousands Of Americans Will Visit British Isles

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Rt. Hon. Lord Hacking, chairman of the Travel Association of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, predicts that 60,000 to 70,000 Americans will visit the British Isles this year.

Next year, Lord Hacking said during a visit to Philadelphia, this figure will more than double. By 1949, he expects the number of American travelers to England to get back to its pre-war average of 300,000 yearly.

Lord Hacking said Americans will find comfortable living in Great Britain, despite rationing and shortages. He suggested, however, that they take advantage of their right to bring 25 pounds of food into the country.

The word "hiking" was originally a soldier's slang word, and is said to have been brought back from the Philippines more than 40 years ago.

Poland Rejects U. S. Charges On Sunday Election

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Poland today flatly rejected United States charges that the coming Sunday elections for a permanent Polish government will not be "free and unfettered" within the meaning of the Potsdam declaration.

The Polish rejection came in answer to a United States note of Jan. 9 which declared that the behavior of the current Soviet-dominated provisional Polish government, through terrorism and the suppression of civil rights, made clear that the Potsdam guarantee would be violated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A move was underway today in congress to block or delay indefinitely the sale of the government's big and little inch petroleum pipelines to natural gas interests.

Rep. Wolverton (R) N. J., chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, promised "expedient action" by his group on a resolution introduced by Rep. Walter (D) Pa.

The Walter resolution, if adopted by congress, would prevent war assets administrator Robert M. Littlejohn from selling the 146 million dollar surplus properties until six months after the federal power commission has submitted to congress a final report on a comprehensive study it is now making of the gas, oil and coal industries.

Wolverton said the matter would be placed before his committee tomorrow or early next week for such action as it desired to take.

Jas. E. Gallagher Going To Germany As Weather Expert

James E. Gallagher of New Castle, who was discharged from the U. S. air forces as a captain in August, 1946, has re-entered the service of the government, this time as a civilian engaged in the reorganization of the German weather service. He expects to leave shortly for overseas and will have his headquarters in Berlin.

Mr. Gallagher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gallagher of Slippery Rock, Pa., and is a graduate of the Slippery Rock high school class of 1938. Following his high school graduation he attended and graduated from Slippery Rock State Teachers' college. For a time he taught in the high school at Verona, Pa.

In March 1943 he entered the military service and was a weather officer in Italy and Germany. In Italy he was chief meteorological instructor for the 15th air force, later transferring to the air forces with headquarters in Weisbaden, Germany. Following his discharge in August 1946 he was in New Wilmington high school and Westminster college.

His wife is the former Lois L. Leddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis T. Leddy of 2212 Highland avenue. She will join him in Germany within a short time.

TWO FACE CHARGES

John D. Brophy, Chestnut street, city, and David F. Bullano, Hiram Avenue, Youngstown, were arraigned yesterday before Alderman J. C. Kennedy on two charges.

One sworn to by Nicholas Scarazzo, Jack's Tavern, accused them of malicious mischief and disorderly conduct. They were alleged to have pulled out electric wires in the lavatory of the tavern Monday night.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna accused them of attempted burglary at the Central Lunch, South Mill street, early Tuesday morning.

The young men pleaded not guilty to both charges and will stand a hearing, the date of which has not been set yet by the alderman.

P. T. Barnum, the famous circus man, was defeated as a candidate for Congress in 1886, but was four times a member of the Connecticut legislature.

MOBILE IRON LUNG STOPS AT MERCER

MERCER, Jan. 15.—Residents of this city were able to view for a short time Tuesday a unique truck and trailer bearing an iron lung, built with March of Dimes funds, and owned by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The field service unit, the only one of its kind in the world, transported John P. Wiley, 28-year-old veteran of Washington county, from Meadville City hospital to the Municipal hospital in Pittsburgh.

DENIED JOBLESS PAY
HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A Pittsburgh dishwasher, discharged because he embraced women employees on duty, today was denied jobless benefits by the state unemployment compensation board of review.

The board upheld decisions of the unemployment compensation bureau and a referee denying payments to Mike Kovich, 1436 Fifth Ave.

"On various occasions claimant molested female employees of the Employer Company by putting his arms around them", the board said. "After having been warned without effect, he was finally discharged."

The name of Boston, Mass., as derived from that of Boston, England. The name is a corruption of Botolph's Town, Saint Botolph having founded an abbey there.

Senior Members Of Choir Will Sing For Last Time Sunday

With the present Senior "A's" singing for the last time, the cappella choir of the Senior high school will sing at the baccalaureate service in the Cathedral Sunday evening.

The choir, which is directed by Robert A. Duff, will lose about ten of its members at commencement time, but the enrollment in chorus classes for the second semester is expected to be larger than it has ever been.

June graduation, however, will cut the number down by 40 or 50 members.

Alumni choir members will meet in the high school auditorium on Thursday evening at 8:30 for rehearsals.

Vets Can Enlist In Naval Reserve

Tonight at the U. S. navy recruiting station in the Post Office building, veterans and non-veterans can enlist in the navy reserve program, it was announced today by Chief John Burrell.

The navy will now accept youths aged 17 to 18 1/2 years who have not had military experience as well as men in the age group of 30 to 40 years.

Non-veterans are required to pass a physical examination but veterans of the service need not take such an exam. Original discharge and separation papers are required, however.

Attorney Walter Kieler will be at the station to swear in prospective reservists. The office will be open from 7 to 9 p. m.

Seventeen Alter Names In Year

Changes Are Allowed By Court For Convenience Of Applicants

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Clergymen are said to be the only people who can change a girl's name, but this is not exactly true. The courts can change a girl's or a man's name and without a ceremony, at that. While changes of name are not common in Lawrence county they do occur from time to time. In 1946 there were 17 applications for changes of name in Lawrence county, all of them apparently for convenience by the applicant.

In many cases the logic of a change of name for convenience is seen for names that come from the Slavish countries are sometimes difficult to pronounce and too long for convenience.

Oftentimes an applicant for a change in name will use a part of his original name. For example the name Ottivani might be changed to Ott. The name Druzinski might be changed to Drew. Usually this comes about by the persons having been addressed by the short name for years before.

While he has never refused any reasonable request for a change in name, Judge W. Walter Graham has indicated several times that he felt the applicants were making a mistake in asking that it be changed.

Tom Wallace's Unique Handiwork

In the above photograph, Tom Wallace, Harbor-Edenburgh road, is showing some of his handiwork to a daughter of The News photographer. The backdrop is painted on paper and mounted behind the winter scene.

Many persons have hobbies that they pursue through the years. Some collect stamps, coins or curios. Some paint or make photographs. Others read, write or otherwise divert the attention to something to relax from the daily grind. Tom Wallace, of the Harbor-Edenburgh road, a youngster of 67 years, has a hobby and a very unique one at that. For the past ten or twelve years, he has been carving small characters.

Mr. Wallace has a small workshop in the cellar of his home where he does his cutting, carving, gluing and painting. Some of the figures that he works on are completed in as little as a few hours, others take many days.

His hobby developed when he found that reading and other pastimes didn't give him proper relaxation. His first carvings were miniature horses which are harnessed as realistically as living ones. Carving of the animals takes very little time, said Mr. Wallace, it is the detail of harnessing and coloring that takes the time.

Among his collection are Santa's reindeer that have antlers made of thorns cut from the hawthorn tree. His sleighs are replicas of oldtime sleighs. They are made for the most part from tin cans. Mr. Wallace has a large stage coach carved to the finest detail like the stage coach of old that were popular in this region.

In one corner of his living room Mr. Wallace has set up a winter scene. It is fenced in with a rail fence that is made of suckersticks. It boasts of several log cabins and a mill with a water wheel that turns. In one spot on the landscape, two wooden mechanical men are sawing logs while nearby a third man is chopping kindling. About the scene, winter activities are taking place. Miniature skaters frolic on a mirror lake and a stagecoach with three matched teams is about to race along a lane.

Mr. Wallace's hobby doesn't stop with carving figurines, he makes carved jewel cases and even tables and stands. He hopes that for next Christmas he will have a complete landscape scene with three separate times of the year season represented. He plans to have the day before Christmas, Christmas eve and Christmas day portrayed.

Army Transport Is Standing By Canadian Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The army transport General M. L. Hersey was reported standing by today to save the crew of the Canadian freighter Tecumseh Park reported sinking in the hurricane swept north Atlantic.

The Tecumseh Park, a 7,163-ton vessel, gave its position as 840 miles east of Halifax, Nova Scotia and said that her deck plates had cracked open in the heavy seas. Coast guard headquarters said the cutter Ingham was steaming to the rescue of the ship and that the General Hersey, carrying 1,500 troops from Bremerhaven had reached the scene.

The Tecumseh Park normally carries a crew of 41 and is owned by the Canadian Transport, Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C. She was reported to have enough fuel to carry her into St. John's, Nfld., provided she survives the storm.

Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., was founded in 1859 by Orthodox Friends. It succeeded a school of advanced grade which was opened for students in 1847. The college is co-educational.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the nation has just emerged from the greatest epidemic of infantile paralysis since the great scourge of 1916, and,

WHEREAS, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is supported by the March of Dimes and by the March of Dimes only, has been called upon as never before in its history to spend millions to bring the best available care to those stricken, regardless of age, creed, color or race, and,

WHEREAS, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will be called upon as never before to provide continuing care for the thousands stricken until maximum recovery is assured in every case, thereby fulfilling its expressed pledge to the American people, and,

WHEREAS, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, supported as it is solely by the March of Dimes, will need millions of additional dimes this year in its widespread educational program designed to strike against polio's two greatest allies—fear and ignorance, and,

WHEREAS, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, spearhead of the ceaseless war against polio will, for the reasons set forth above, need funds to carry on its work in 1947 as never before in its history.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the sixteen days January 15-30, be officially set aside as the 1947 March of Dimes, during which time all citizens are urged to familiarize themselves thoroughly with the good works of the March of Dimes and to support the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to their utmost with their dimes.

High Luxury Taxes To Be Continued

Ways And Means Committee Of Congress Favors Retention Of Luxury Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Republican members of the house ways and means committee on Tuesday moved for continuation of the high wartime taxes on liquors, furs, jewelry and other "luxury" items.

The GOP members held a closed-door meeting and members reported afterward that the prevailing opinion was for an indefinite extension of the excise tax rates due to expire July 1.

This would be in line with the recommendation of President Truman in his message to congress last week.

It was indicated, however, that Republican ways and means members were not bowing to the president's wishes, but were moving for a continuation of the wartime rates to remove uncertainties to the industries affected.

One ranking GOP ways and means member, who would not permit his name to be used, said it was necessary to end present uncertainties over the tax rates, and this appeared to be the only effective way to do it.

MOVING HEADQUARTERS
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Diamond Alkali company of Pittsburgh today announced it was moving its headquarters from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

President John T. Richards disclosed that an 83-acre tract has been purchased at Mayfield Heights, where an administration office and research laboratory will be constructed at an approximate cost of $2,000,000.

Richards disclosed that the company also planned to build plants at Houston, Tex., and Chicago.

Iceland is treeless, but is planning a large scale planting of spruces from Alaska which have been found suitable to the climate.

SUPPLIES SHORT FOR SOME VEGETABLE SEEDS

Because of a shortage reported for some vegetable seeds, home gardeners should place orders early in order to be certain of getting the varieties they desire. Many commercial growers already have placed their orders.

The 1946 lettuce seed crop is reported only 75 per cent of that for 1945, but a carry-over should ease this situation. In the case of onion seed, the 1946 crop was only one-third that of 1945, with little carry-over.

Bean and hybrid sweet corn seed will be ample, but the pea seed stocks are less favorable, while the tomato seed harvest in 1946 was hard hit in the principal seed-producing areas by the late blight, resulting in a yield considerably below normal, and perhaps short of requirements.

Ordinarily, seeds of the newer varieties of the more popular vegetables are in limited supply and are sold out early, with the result that later orders must be filled with whatever is left.

In placing vegetable seed orders, the gardener should consider varieties which do well under local conditions. A little planning will determine the amount of seed required and eliminate wasteful over-ordering.

DISPERSE STRIKERS

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Reuters reported from Bombay today that police in that Indian city opened fire to disperse 1,100 strikers at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, after the strikers stoned peace officers.

The town of East Hampton, N. Y., was settled in 1649, came under the jurisdiction of Connecticut in 1657

To Battle Loss In Army Training Due To Sickness

General Eisenhower Says Too Much Time Lost At Army Centers Due To Influenza

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—
Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, army chief of staff, was disclosed today to have taken action to prevent serious interruption of soldier training because of colds and influenza.

The anti-flu program was launched by Eisenhower at direction of Secretary of War Patterson.
All commanders were ordered during this winter and spring to prevent and control respiratory diseases through additional safeguards, including avoidance of overcrowding in all places where GI's assemble.

Eisenhower, in an official war department document, said that compliance with the regulations is particularly important at posts where there are troops receiving basic training.

Recruits Susceptible

The five-star general asserted that "recruits are notoriously susceptible to acute respiratory diseases."

He warned that failure to carry out hygienic measures "will, almost inevitably, result in serious interruption of training due to an increased incidence" of respiratory infections.

Precautions ordered by Eisenhower include:
Troops in the United States will be allotted a minimum of 72 square feet per individual in barracks whenever possible and no less than 60 square feet under any circumstances.

Under no conditions will a space of less than three feet between adjacent beds be permitted and no more than 40 soldiers quartered in one room.

Sleeping Requirements

GI's will be required to sleep with the head of one individual opposite the feet of the two adjacent soldiers if the distance between beds is less than five feet.

All mess personnel with colds, cough, sore throat and other respiratory infections will be excused from kitchen duty until declared in good health.

Temperature of water in dishwashing machines will be checked often throughout the peak flu period to kill any germs.

Army medical officials stressed that Eisenhower's action was taken strictly as a precautionary measure.
It was disclosed that the rate of respiratory ailments is lower than normal for this time of year in the United States.

The current rate is about 80 per thousand men. Spokesmen said that 150 to 200 per thousand would not be considered unusual.

Overseas the rate was said to be normal.

DISCUSS PLAN FOR STATE APPLE TAX

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—
A cent a bushel state tax on apples was being scouted today by a seven-member committee of the state horticultural association.

Officials estimated that the tax would yield between $60,000 and $80,000. Funds would be used to educate consumers, promote sales, advertise Pennsylvania apples and finance research, it was explained.

The committee was: John Peters, Aspers; George Goodling, Logan-ville; Fred Greist, Florida; Richard McDonald, Shippensburg; Robert Precon, Scotland; Charles Packard, Roaring Springs; and John Menzel, West Leesport.

VEGETABLE GROWERS ORGANIZE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—
H. H. Hostetter, of Sinking Springs, today was president of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association.

Amos Funk, of Millersville, was elected vice-president while Frank H. Worsam, of Rutledge, was chosen secretary-treasurer during the association's annual convention held at the state farm show at Harrisburg.

Directors named were: A. G.
Thompson, Morrisville; E. J. Fleming, Andalusia; Gilbert S. Watts, Bellwood; Noah Hershey, Parkersburg; E. D. Sutcliffe, Shickshinny; and F. C. Brehm, Dilltown.

STRETCHED 90 MILE TRIP TO 7,000 MILES

CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)— William Ruth, Jr., of Upland, was under $3,000 bail today as police charged he traveled 7,000 miles after being hired to make a 90-mile trip.

Ruth was arrested in Garden City, Kas., 25 days after he had been hired to drive a new automobile from Chester to a distributor in Jersey City.

Police said he was accompanied by his brother, whom he had told he owned the automobile.

Pittsburgh Firm Auditor Is Held In Embezzlement

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)— Auditor Albert W. Shiller heaved a sigh of relief today in his cell in the county jail and issued a bit of advice: "don't swipe the bosses money."

The 54-year-old Pittsburgh automobile firm auditor confessed to District Attorney Artemas C. Leslie the theft of $25,000 which, he said, was spent on wine, women and song.

Shiller, the district attorney said,
stole the money from the Superior Auto Parts Company "just to show the gals a good time and play the part of a 'big shot'." He gambled with some, too.

Leslie said Shiller's manipulations were discovered last week after an independent audit of the firm's books were made. He said a further check will be made to determine further thefts from previous years.

The auditor, a former employee of the State milk control commission, at Wilkes-Barre, admitted he swiped his bosses money and to cover the removals issued rebate checks from the Napa-Pittsburgh warehouse company, where he was secretary.

So adroit was Shiller, the district attorney said, in manipulating the books to cover his embezzlements that not until a complete inquiry has been made will his exact system be known.

The $25,000 theft occurred during 1946.

Dr. Mills Tells Lions Of Program

De-emphasis Of Sports In Favor Of Well-Rounded
Physical Education
Indicated

TOO FEW BENEFIT AT PRESENT TIME

Addressing members of the New Castle Lions Club at their noon luncheon program in The Castle-ton, Tuesday, Dr. G. K. Mills, new director of health and physical education in the public schools here, indicated that a well-rounded program of physical education for all students, from the first grade through the 12th grade is projected here, with a de-emphasis of sports in favor of mass participation in athletic programs.

Dr. Mills traced the growth of physical education in the schools, particularly following World War One, when it was found that too many young men called for service in the armed forces, were not physically fit, but that such health instruction programs projected, gave way too easily to athletics, in favor of those who were the strongest.

Fifty Per Cent Unfit
The Second World War revealed that about fifty per cent of all those called up for service failed to qualify for the rigorous standards demanded by the army and navy.

Had there been a well-rounded program of physical education, Dr. Mills stated, more single men would have qualified for service, and it would not have been necessary to call up so many married men, with an aftermath of broken homes. Such a program, Dr. Mills pointed out, will require more money which he felt should be raised by taxation, and that games between schools should be supported, with admission to the contests being free.

Athletics in the state of Pennsylvania, he pointed out, do not come under the Department of Education, but are regulated by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Program Advocated
For those who are not physically qualified to make the varsity teams, Dr. Mills advocated a corrective program so that everyone will be engaged in some type of a physical education program, and thus develop interests which will carry on with them through life. He pointed out that there is no need for bulky waist lines at the age of forty, and believes there would not be had the individual some interest in keeping fit.

Dr. Mills also expressed the idea that youth should be taught more about personal hygiene, preparing themselves for marriage, and sex in a wholesome way. He stated that youth should know how to protect themselves from unwholesome relationships.

No comprehensive program is possible here, or anywhere else, however, Dr. Mills reiterated without facilities. Large amounts of money are spent for lighting football fields so games can be played at night, while the lights in some school rooms are so bad, that pupils are barely able to see.

Dr. Mills talk was much enjoyed by the members of the club, his address giving them considerable food for thought.

VFW CONVENTION SCHEDULED JULY 16 AT STATE CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today that its four-day annual convention will be held at Harrisburg beginning July 16.

A spokesman said Frank Hilton of Womelsdorf, senior vice-commander, was a leading candidate to succeed John U. Shroyer of Shamokin as head of the 200,000-member organization.

Shroyer, former state highways secretary, was elected commander at the 1946 convention in Philadelphia.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

IN THE OPEN

Great shreds of bark and nearly a half peck of large chips littered the snow about the base of the tall slender poplar. Perhaps twenty feet up a long deep gash had been hacked into the softened dead wood of the trunk. The tree had come out second best in the race for existence. Its taller and more aggressive neighbors in the forest had crowded it out and finally killed it. Now in its dying state it harbored a host of tasty borers and thus became fair game to Old Man Chisel-bill, the woodpecker.

No ordinary woodpecker had hammered out that immense sawdust pile. Those four-inch chips were beyond the prowess of the downy, and his king-size counterpart, the hairy woodpecker. That pile of debris on the snow was clear evidence that the mighty log-cock had passed that way, and had notified all and sundry that the pileated woodpecker, as big as a crow and almost as noisy, was still a part of the woodland scene.

Weathered Another Year
I saw this rare fellow in those same woods a year ago. He came cackling along overhead and alighted within ear shot. I could hear him grumbling to himself for some time, but when I tried to stalk him for a closer view he slipped away. It is good to know that he had weathered another year. The cuttings in the dead poplar were quite recent, and I looked around that neighborhood for some time, but neither saw nor heard the bird.

There must be quite a family of foxes in this woodland. Their tracks criss-crossed the whole area, but nowhere did I see any signs of a

Unreasonable Yule Tree Prices Given Firm Condemnation

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Unreasonable Christmas tree prices were condemned today by M. C. Stewart, president of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association.

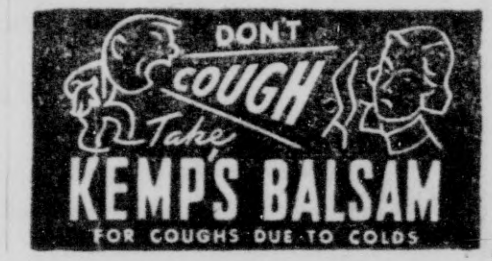

He asserted the organization was "opposed to the consuming public being held up for excessively high prices, or being the victims of either natural or induced unfavorable market conditions." He spoke during the group's annual convention in conjunction with the State Farm Show at Harrisburg.

"Our established policy is to improve the quality of trees produced and to endeavor to make them prices and returning to the growers cost of production plus a fair profit," he said.

Apple growers were warned to improve their products or face stiff competition from the citrus fruit business.

E. L. Overholser, horticulture professor of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, pointed to an increase in citrus fruit consumption as a result of better shipping methods.

Marriages Up, Divorces Slump In Western Pa.

Lawrence County Shows 1,631 Marriage Licenses
And 329 Divorces
In 1946

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The graph on marriages is showing an upward curve, and the divorce figures are dipping in western Pennsylvania now that the wartime marriage and divorce hysteria is passing.

At least, that was how it looked as figures for 1946 obtained in a survey by International News Service were analyzed.

Number of divorces, in most cases, were greater in 1946 than in 1945, but on a percentage basis, compared with marriage license figures, they were less.

Court officials in western Pennsylvania counties attributed both the rise in divorces and the rise in marriage licenses to the end of the war. They explained it like this:

"A number of divorces were 'hangovers' from 1945 and the war. Others were filed after men in the service returned home. But the increase in marriage licenses can be attributed to the thousands of men who went into service leaving long-time sweethearts behind them and were married soon after they returned."

In Allegheny county, where divorces reached an all-time high in 1946, marriage licenses also hit a new high. There were 4,931 divorces granted, 34 refused, of a total of 5,066 filed. That compared with 2,678 granted and 38 refused in 1945 of 5,086 filed, and 2,429 granted and 46 refused of 3,637 filed in 1944.

Last year, 19,271 marriage licenses were issued.

Of the divorces granted roughly one-third were to men and women married in so-called "G-I" weddings. Prothonotary David B. Roberts said. "These G-I divorces should drop sharply from now on. The past year's marriages of ex-service-men should be the kind that stick."

In Erie county marriages showed an increase of 1,400, with 3,492 licenses issued. Divorces, meanwhile, were only 652, of a total of 867 cases filed. In Fayette county the number of marriages jumped from 1,190 in 1945 to 2,009 in 1946. Only 400 divorces were granted.

Lawrence county showed a similar ratio of marriages to divorces. There were 1,631 marriage licenses issued and 329 divorces granted.

"A year ago, the ratio was almost one divorce to two marriage licenses," Roberts said. "It is a healthy trend now, with the ratio increasing in favor of marriages."

Two Convicted In Numbers Racket At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A motion for a new trial is expected to be filed within a few days for Vincent Bellini and Alex Scaringi, convicted in the Pittsburgh numbers racket.

A jury needed only 40 minutes to find them guilty although the chief witness against them, Police Inspector John J. Dean, had testified he had no evidence to support the charge.

Dean, accused of letting the two men escape indictment the first time the case went to the grand jury, is awaiting a hearing on charges of perjury, misbehavior in office and obstructing justice.

Shortly before Bellini and Scaringi were convicted yesterday, Bellini's brother, Daniel, and two others—Clement Longo and Alice Moore—pleaded guilty to charges of operating a lottery. Daniel Bellini and Longo were fined, and Miss Moore drew a suspended sentence.

PLANT PURCHASED
CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The War Assets administration in Cleveland today announced that negotiations have been closed for the purchase of the former Curtiss-Wright propeller plant at Beaver Falls, Pa., by the Westinghouse corporation.

The sales agreement calls for a down payment of 10 per cent of the $2,310,525 purchase price for land, buildings and some machinery, according to WAA.

Westinghouse eventually will employ approximately 2,000 workers to produce safety switches, line starters and motor controls for industrial and housing markets.

France Campaigns; Has
Other Awards

From the War Department, The Adjutant General's Office at St. Louis, Mo., comes word to Dick G. Ryhal, 1001 Lorain avenue, as follows:

"I have the honor to inform you, that by direction of the President, the Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded to you by the Commanding General, Seventh Army, citation follows:"

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

"For extraordinary heroism in action on 29 August 1944, near . . . During an enemy attack, friendly infantry were forced to withdraw, leaving the supporting cannon company crews completely surrounded. Armed with a sub-machine gun and fragmentation grenades, Technician Fifth Grade Ryhal, on his own initiative, fearlessly left his 75 millimeter self-propelled gun, and, despite terrific small arms, machine gun and artillery fire, advanced on the enemy who were firmly entrenched in an adjacent woods. Holding his fire until he was at close range, Technician Fifth Grade Ryhal charged until his ammunition had become exhausted. Undaunted, he returned to his gun position and secured additional ammunition. When he observed machine pistol fire coming from a nearby wooded area, he courageously advanced toward the point of resistance. During his action he was wounded by a burst of machine gun fire. Despite his painful wounds, he crawled forward until within throwing distance of the enemy force, and hurled a concussion grenade into the enemy placement. While attempting to seek out additional enemy positions, he collapsed as a result of his severe wounds. Technician Fifth Grade Ryhal's indomitable courage, fearless determination and aggressive action inspired those about him to continue their bitter fight until they successfully repulsed the enemy."

Dick Ryhal entered service May 16, 1942, and was honorably discharged from Fletcher General Hospital, Cambridge, Ohio, January 18, 1945. He was attached to the 143rd Infantry, 36th Division, Fifth Army. He was in campaigns in North Africa, Italy and France.

Dick has also been awarded with the Silver Star, Purple Heart, and Oak Leaf Cluster, European-African Middle Eastern medal, with three bronze battle stars and bronze arrow head, Good Conduct Ribbon, Combat Infantry badge, and American Defense Ribbon. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ryhal.

State Pension Is Allowed Martin

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A $460.83 monthly state pension was assured today U. S. Sen. Edward Martin for the rest of his life.

Secretary of Commonwealth C. M. Morrison, chairman of the State Employees' Retirement board, reported that the agency approved the option selected by the 67-year-old ex-governor which will pay Mrs. Martin the same sum during her life should the senator die. Morrison said Martin has accumulated 25 years, four and one-quarter months state service but would not disclose his contributions. The first payment was slated to be made at the end of this month," he said. The pension became effective January 3, the day following his resignation as governor.

STRIKE AVERTED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 15.—(INS)—A threatened general strike of municipal workers was averted in Johnstown yesterday when the city council voted $50,000 in wage boosts.

President Joseph F. Adams of the CIO-United Public Workers said that all threats of a strike are over if the wage boost goes through.

It was estimated that the $50,000 fund will give hourly workers a 6 1/2 per cent wage increase, and $12.50 a month for salaried workers.

Wage Conference Start Is Delayed

Negotiations Between C.I.O.-United Steel Workers And U. S. Steel
To Start Next Week

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Collective bargaining negotiations between the CIO-United Steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corporation were suddenly deferred today and rescheduled for early next week.

The parleys were originally slated for tomorrow.

Postponement came within a few hours after the Steelworkers union filed strike notices with the National Labor Relations Board against 700 basic steel manufacturers and fabricating firms. The notices were filed in behalf of 720,000 workers.

Neither the Steel Corporation nor the union would comment on who asked for the delay.

Meanwhile, negotiations sessions with fabricators got underway when USWA Director John Grecula and a negotiation committee met with officials of the Copperweld Steel Corporation at Glassport, and the Reliance Steel Company of McKeesport.

Continued silence remained on the 1947 wage demands that will be asked by the steelworkers. Union officials steadfastly refused to commit themselves on dollars and cents until after talks on a welfare fund, portal-to-portal pay, insurance guaranteed annual wage and other points have been discussed with "Big Steel."

Colleges To Get OPA Furniture

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The Western Pennsylvania OPA office was out of business today, with the exception of 23 employees in the sugar and rent control divisions.

William K. Harrison, who heads the office, said that office furniture will be divided between the Pittsburgh Board of Education and seven colleges which have veterans programs.

Among the colleges that will receive the furniture are the California State Teachers, Waynesburg, Westminster and Slippery Rock Teachers.

More than 31,000 pounds of records will be destroyed and hundreds of additional pounds of paper will go to paper mills to make pulp.

STABBED TO DEATH

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Police today said that Thomas Green, 23 years old, of Pittsburgh, was stabbed to death when he returned to a house from which he had been previously ejected.

Carl Wallace, 22, was detained by police as a suspect.

The walls of the home laundry should be light in color, easy to keep clean and moisture-resistant. Special damp-proof paints will help and you can select a suitable, attractive finish.

REFINERY SOLD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The War Assets administration today announced the sale of a four million dollar refinery in Oil City, Pa., to the Koppers Co., Inc., for $1,236,125.

During the war the refinery was operated by the Pennzoil Co., to produce alkylate, a component of aviation gasoline. Koppers plans to produce organic chemicals at the plant.

A Koppers spokesman said his firm will spend one and one-half million dollars during the next five years for conversion and improvement at the plant.

The name dome was first given to the sand hills or mounds which stretched along the seacoast of the Netherlands, and the north of France.

Beware Coughs
Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Launch Probe Of Sugar Shortage

House Republicans Launch
Probe To Get More Sugar
For People Of United States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—House Republicans on Tuesday launched an investigation of the sugar shortage, to be broadened later into an inquiry into all food production.

Rep. Andresen (R) Minn., was named to head a special food committee, composed of seven members of the house agriculture committee. The group was appointed by Rep. Hope (R) Kans., agriculture committee chairman.

Andresen announced the investigation, which he said would get underway today, in a house speech. He disclosed that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has advised him that when the international emergency food council meets in the next few days to allocate the world supply of sugar, the allocation will be made for only the first quarter of 1947. Andresen expressed satisfaction at this and added that the amount allocated should not exceed that provided in the first quarter of 1946.

Andresen told the house that less American-produced sugar should be sent overseas since most foreign countries "are now back to nearly pre-war production".

Andresen estimated that the 1946-47 sugar production was sufficient to assure American consumers 40 pounds each in 1947, compared to 25 pounds last year, and permit a 25 per cent increase for industrial users.
